

Mengtao Li

Professor of Medicine in the Department of Rheumatology - Peking Union
Medical College Hospital (PUMCH)

Mengtao Li is currently Professor of Medicine in the Department of Rheumatology at Peking Union Medical College Hospital (PUMCH), Beijing, China. Dr. Li graduated from PUMC in 1999 and went on to receive training at PUMCH, where he was appointed as Professor of Medicine (Rheumatology) in 2012. Apart from his academic appointments, he is Secretary-general of Chinese Rheumatology Association (CRA) and Chinese Association of Rheumatology and Immunology Physicians (CARIP), as well as President-elect of Beijing Rheumatology Association (BRA).

Dr. Li major research centers on registry of Chinese patients with rheumatic diseases. Attributing to his scientific and research contributions, Dr. Li was appointed Secretary-General of Chinese SLE Treatment And Research group (CSTAR) & Chinese Rheumatism Data Center (CRDC)& Chinese Rheumatology Center Alliance (CRCA).